Webinar on Literature the Ammo of Transformation

A webinar was organised on the topic "Literature: The Ammo of Transformation" by the Humanities and Linguistics Department, Sarala Birla University, Ranchi which was addressed by Prof. (Dr) Pratap J. Navitt, Retired Professor of SHUATS, Allahabad, Uttar Pradesh. Dr Pratap J. Navitt addressed the audience with an interesting take on how literature is a powerful instrument to bring change and transformation in the society. He further added that literature carves the identities in the wombs of the society and impacts the lives of the people in broader aspects. Dr. Navitt pointed out how literature is a corridor of influence and an effective channel that can lead one to a plethora of opportunities. He further threw light upon how man has become the slave of his circumstances and greed and thereby, entangled in the whirlpool of vicious circle of consequences. While addressing the students Dr. Navitt exclaimed that they are the future of research and they have the power of using 'the pen' and uphold it as the ammo to do away with the mastered art of hypocrisy and re-evaluate and re-look into the literatures that impact us as the civilised beings of the society. He ended the session on the note that literature is igniting the flambeau of transformation which will lead to the fulfilment of the pedagogical needs of the society. Dr Soham Choudhary, Assistant Professor introduced the chief speaker while Rishika, a student, conducted the proceedings of the programme. The session had a wonderful response and a good number of students, faculty members and senior executives of the university including Professor (Dr) Gopal Pathak, VC, Professor (Dr)Vijay Kumar Singh, Registrar, Dr. Radha Madhab Jha, Dr Ria Mukherjee, Dr Swatilekha Mahato, Dr Shuchi Smita, Mr. Sanjeev Kumar Srivastava, Spriha Misra, Kaveri S.
