There is a need for better research and innovation for the development of the Nation.....Prof. C. Jeganathan, Hon'ble VC, Sarala Birla University, Ranchi

A workshop on the topic of "Perspective on Research and Innovation" was organized by Sarala Birla University on 22.2.25 (Saturday) in G.D. Birla Auditorium. The Hon'ble Vice-Chancellor of the university, Prof. C. Jeganathan took the initiative to organize this workshop. The workshop was based on research and innovation, wherein he briefed the audience about the need of research in personal and professional life. He provided insights into best practices, emerging trends, and funding opportunities. The workshop also offers guidance on securing research grants and collaborating with industry partners. He provided valuable insights into preparing effective research proposals and highlighted the role of national and international collaborations. One of the prime aims of the workshop was to inspire and motivate the faculty members for research and innovation. In the workshop the emphasis was placed on innovation-driven research and practical application, wherein the speaker has highlighted the importance of aligning the research proposal with funding agency requirements for increased success rates.

In his address, Prof. C. Jeganathan shared his experience and achievements related to research, making the faculty members aware of the possibilities of research in various fields. He explained science, research, innovation, engineering and entrepreneurship by giving many inspiring audio visual examples. While elaborating the Bloom's Taxonomy in academics, he discussed ways to implement it in UG, PG and Ph.D. levels. He also discussed about the hot and important areas of research and innovation around the world.

In the workshop, Hon'ble Director General Prof. Gopal Pathak shared the insights about the international collaborations of Sarala Birla University with institution of repute round the world especially USA. In his address, he stated that the identity of any University is defined by its research and innovation. He highlighted the international collaborations of Sarala Birla University with University of California, Berkley, University of California, San Diego, University of Minnesota and University of Vermont for various opportunities like international student's exchange, faculty exchange and collaborative research. He emphasized that the international MoU's can be used for the betterment of academia, research and innovations.

The workshop was followed by question – answer round, where the speaker has answered the several questions asked by the audiences related to the topic. The anchor of the workshop was Dr. Arohi Anand, the welcome address was given by Dr. Nitya Garg and Dr. Ashok Asthana gave the vote of thanks. Dr. Biswarup Samanta and Ms. and Mrs. Shweta Sinha also contributed significantly in organizing the workshop. The workshop was graced by the august presence of Registrar, Deputy Registrar, Deans, Associate Deans, HoDs, faculty members and Ph.D. scholars of Sarala Birla University.
